HAWLEY SILK MILL PROJECT GAINS SUPPORT August 18, 2009 Its being called the most significant historic redevelopment project in the lake region. A group of investors have purchased the Hawley Silk Mill building and preliminary plans for the property include a mix of educational and commercial use. Investors say they hope to lure in a post secondary education tenant to continue job training in the region, and so far that idea looks promising. The number one objective is to get the infrastructure complete so tenants like Cocoon Coffee and Catering, Eco-ledge and Attorney Tony Waldron can move into their new home.
